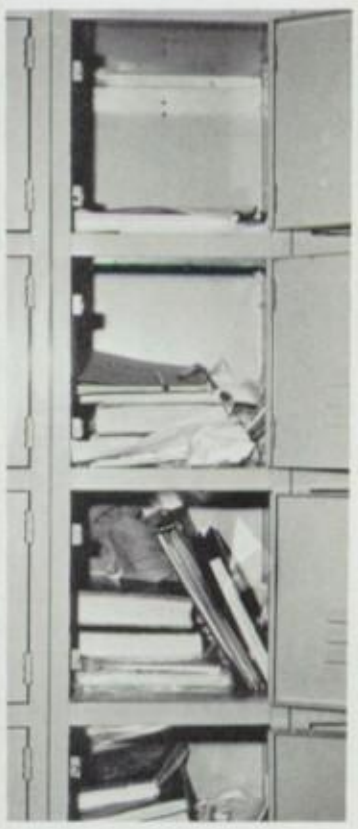
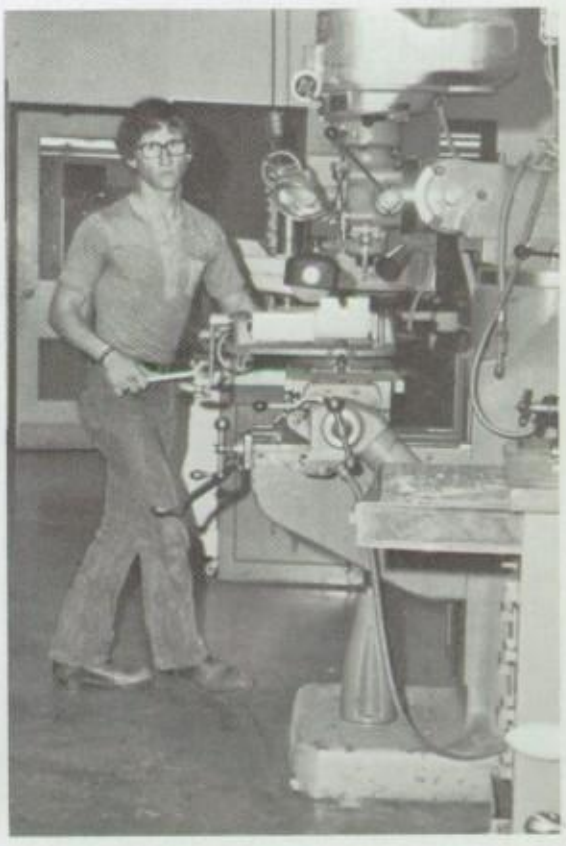
Student Life



Fun — a Variation

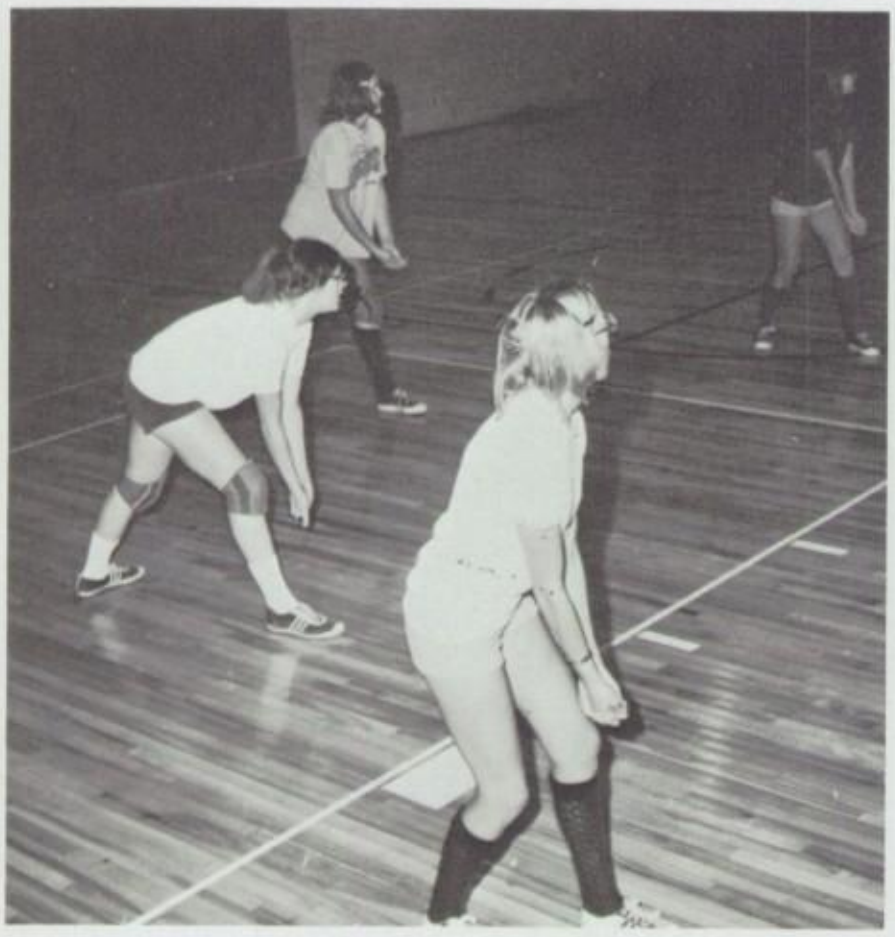
For 55 minutes each day the Sr. High consisted of 4 grades instead of 3. A total of 79 freshmen attended various high school courses--French I, Typing I, Voc Ag I.

Vicki T., Sandy C., Regina T., and Deb S.--huddled in the student center--donned their coats to keep warm because of lowered thermostats.

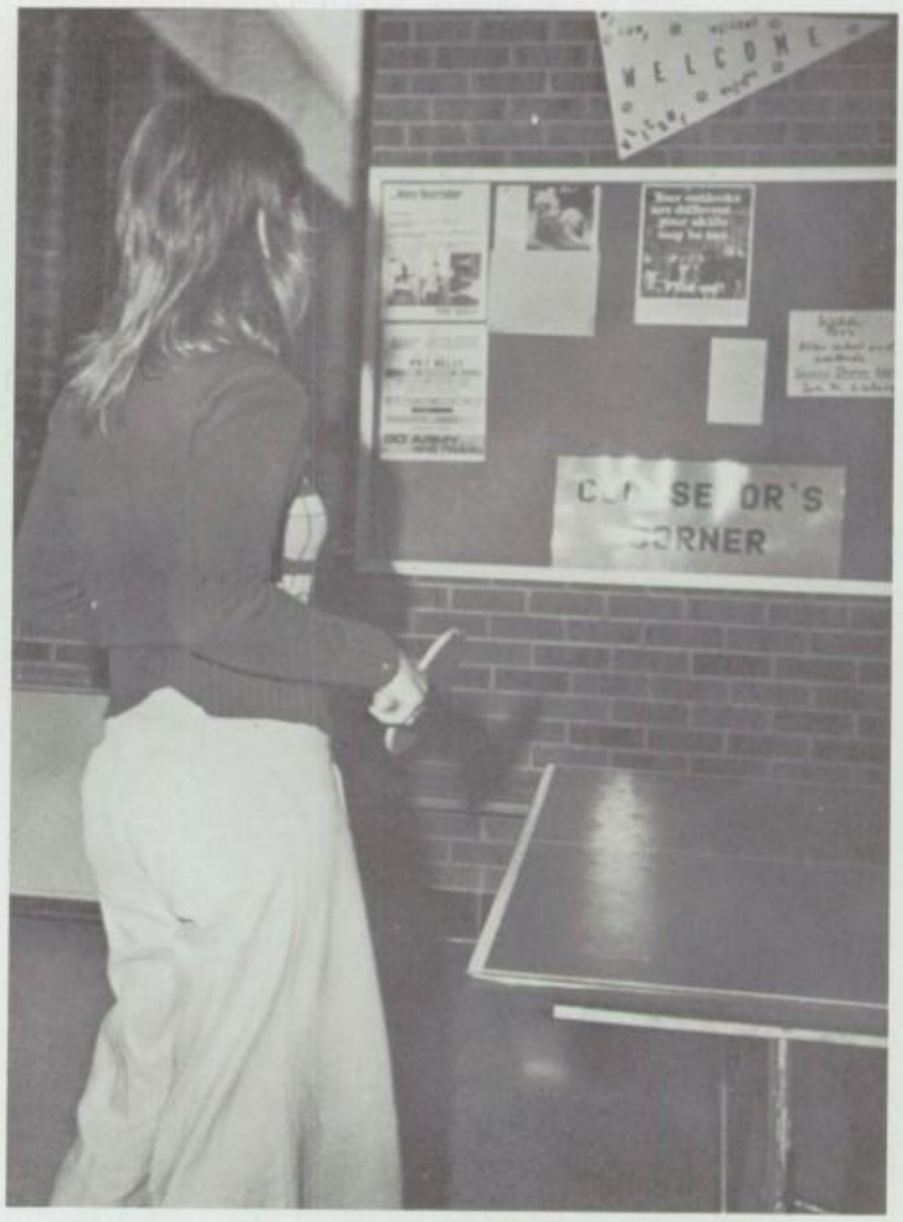


Dave B.--trying his hand at the milling machine.

of Activities



Where did the ball go?

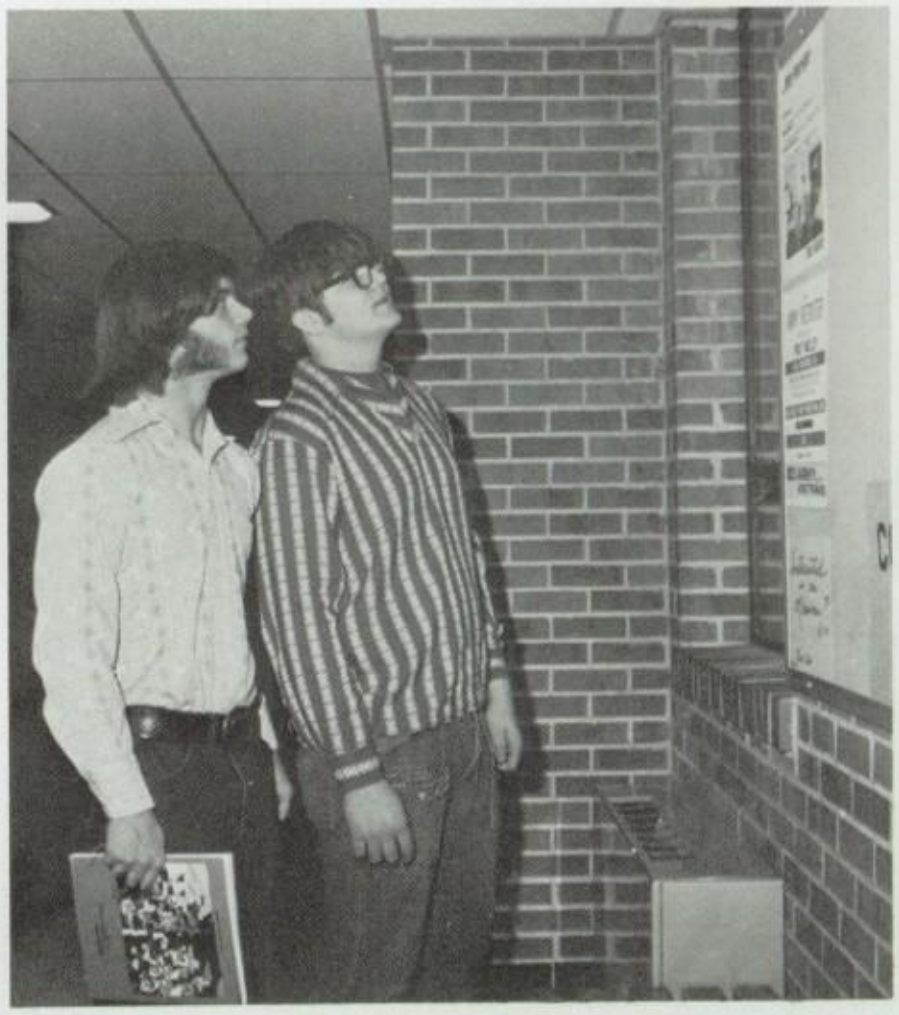


Before school, during noon hours, after school, and even between classes students spent their time playing Ping-Pong. Here a student tried her skill with a paddle.

That note came out all wrong, Joan K. !

A Glance Inside the

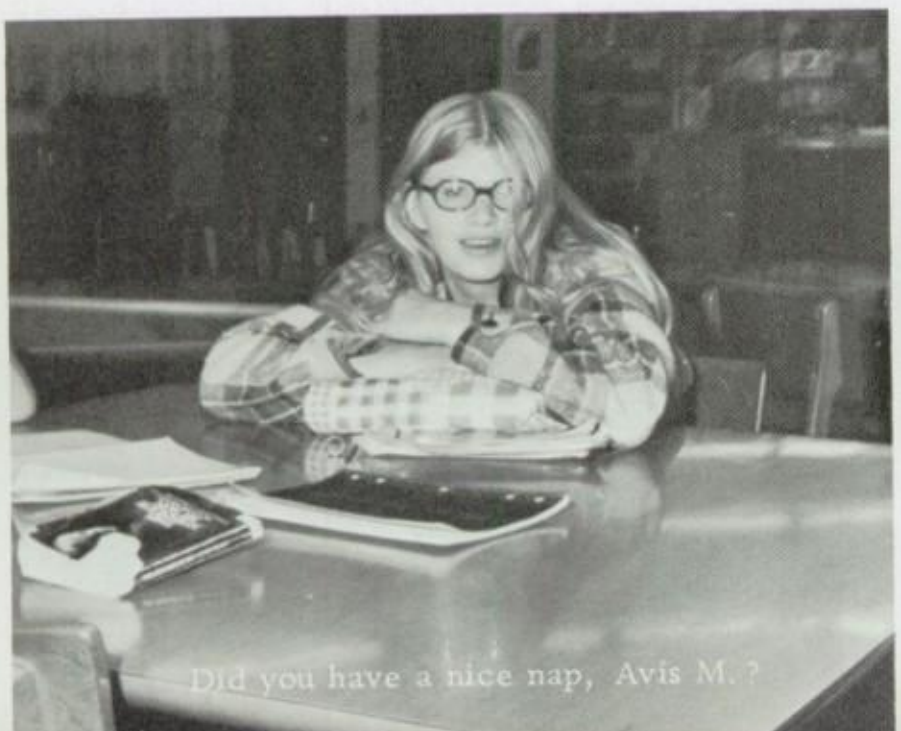
Were you studying hard, Randy G. and Tom L.?



Don R. and Dave O. took a look to see what was happening in the counselor's corner.

Caught looking at the keys, AGAIN, huh, Martha M.?

Shouldn't you girls--Annette S. and Rhonda W.--be BEHIND BARS?



Did you have a nice nap, Avis M.?

Walls of Our Great JCHS

(Above) Saturday, November 3, the delayed homecoming dance was held. Music was provided by the group, Con Brio. Mark T. really seemed to be in the "swing" of it all.

(Upper Right) Bob C. and Jon O. involved themselves with the construction of a gun rack.

A first for sophomores since 1967.

Mr. Limburg proved his school spirit.

The juniors did a good job, received 2nd place.

Seniors received 3rd place.

Preparation for Homecoming started the Sunday before the game. Each class was allowed to spend $35 on the construction of its float. Students, along with chaperones, worked nightly. The night before the judges made their decisions, everyone was permitted to work until all was completed.

At 7:00 Thursday night, there was a pep rally held at the high school football field. A humorous skit involved many students along with cheerleaders. Mr. Limburg brought out the life in everyone with his fired-up speech and proved a worthy speaker.

Hey! How did you like our float?

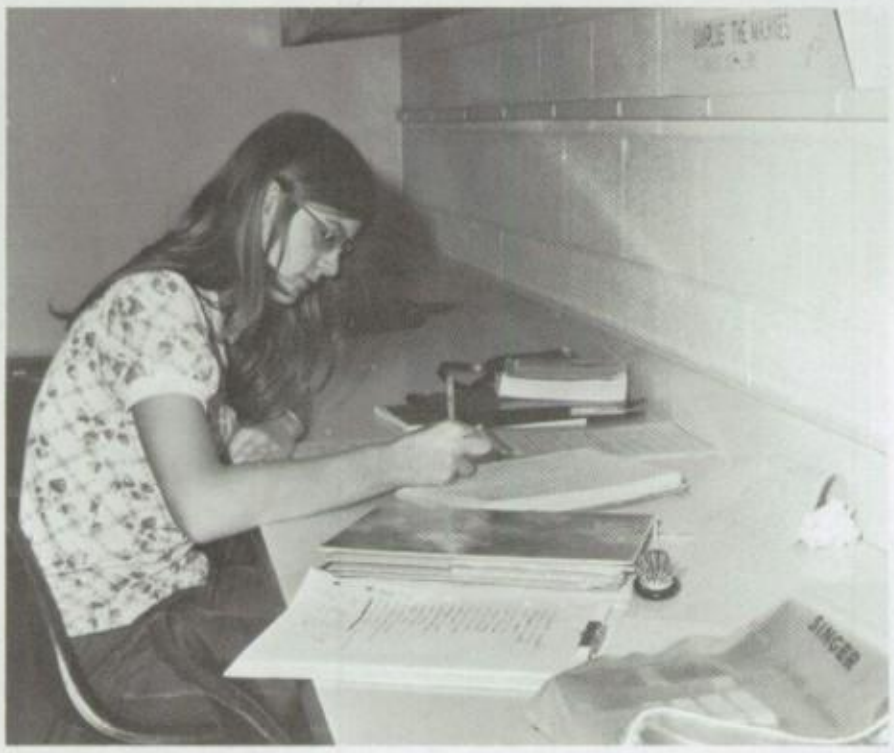
Susan B. and the other girls pitched in helping hands and their ideas to the junior float.

Kara S. and Mary S.--tried to climb the post???

Vicki H. and Regina T. showed off their artistic abilities (Lower Right).

Fun And Games

You girls were really excited about the menu, huh?



A student studied!? You've got to be kidding!

What were you drawing, Julie E.?

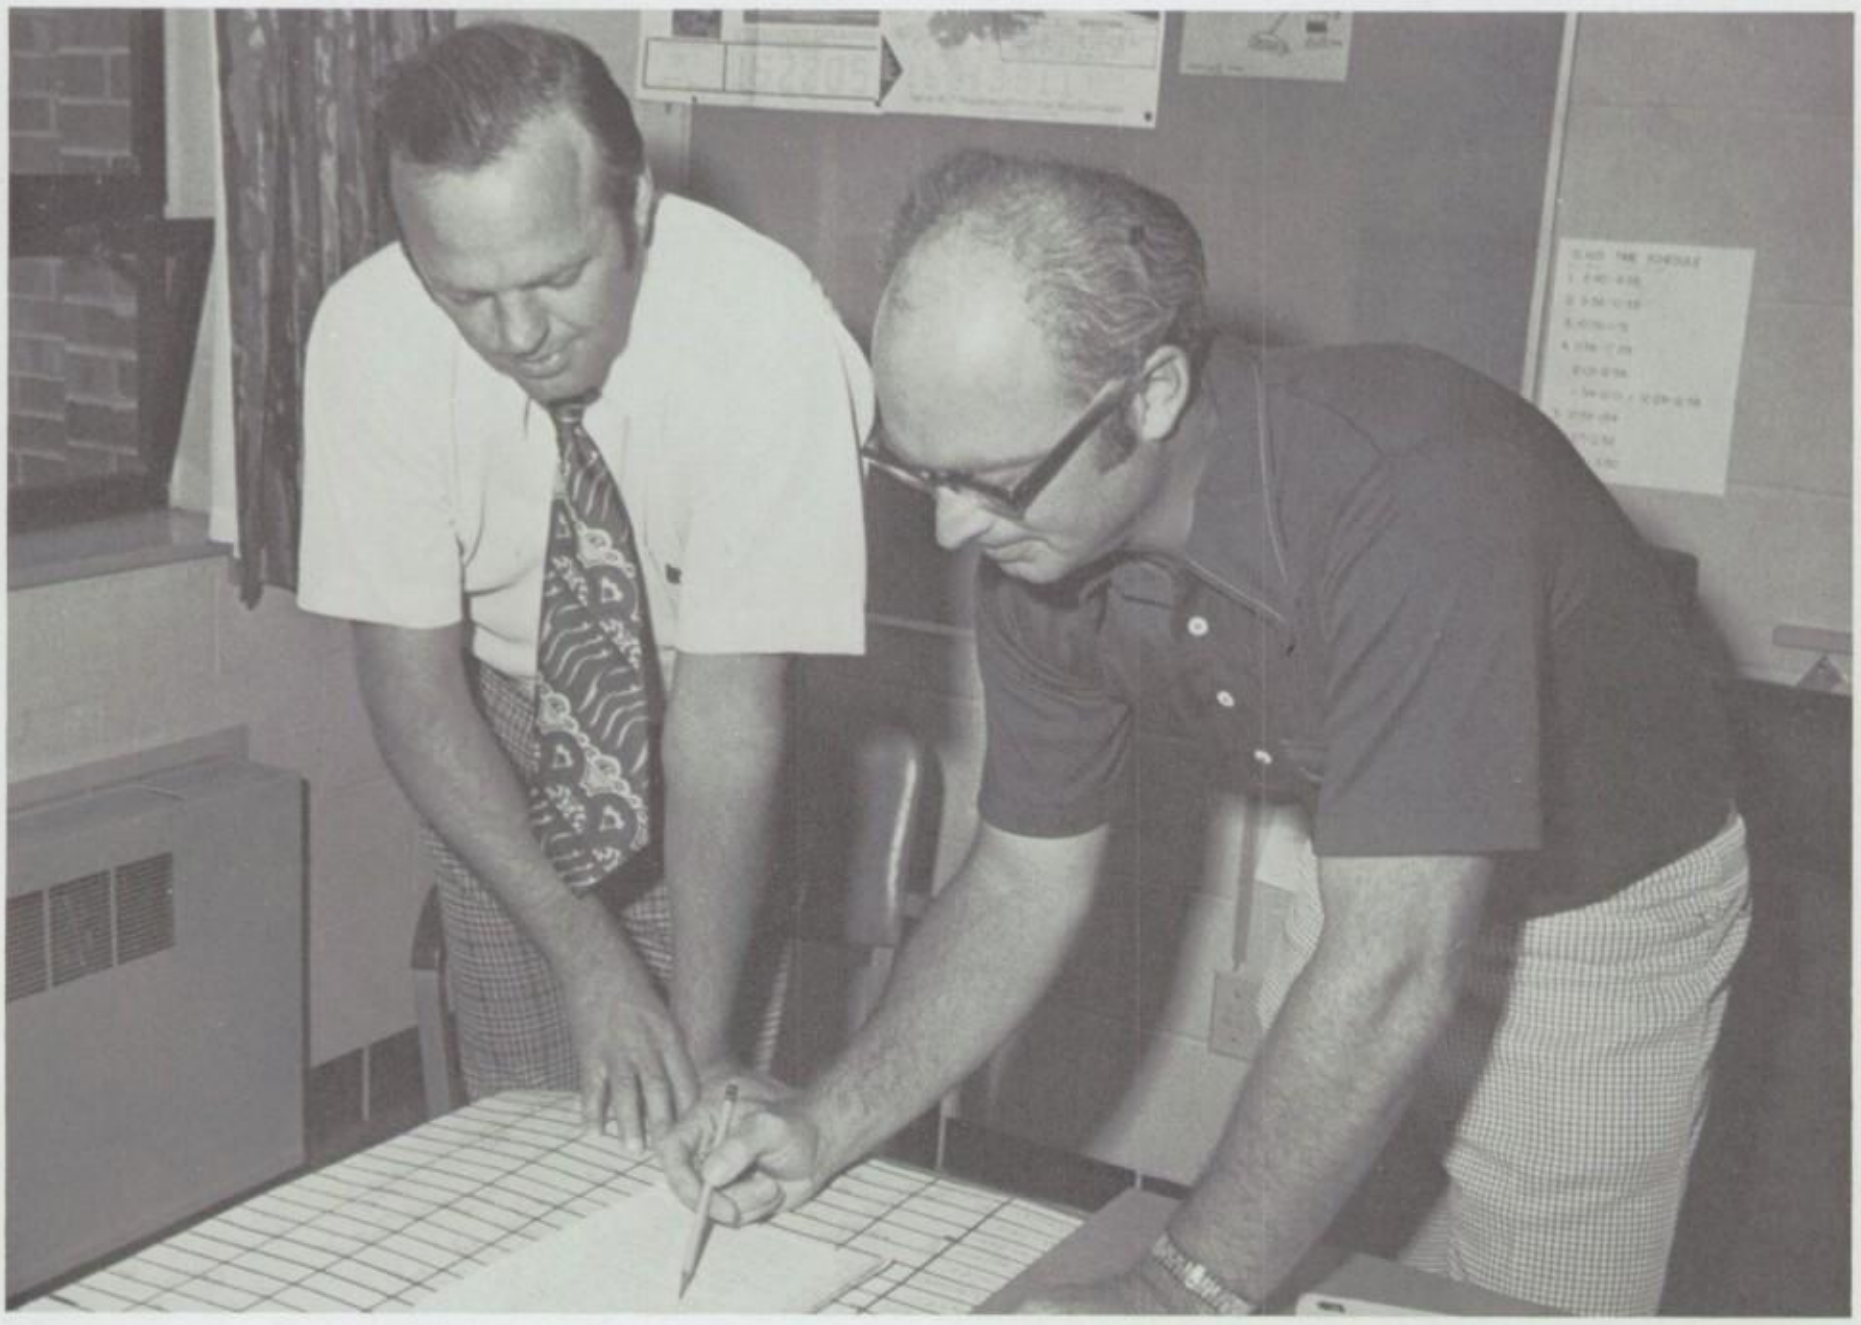
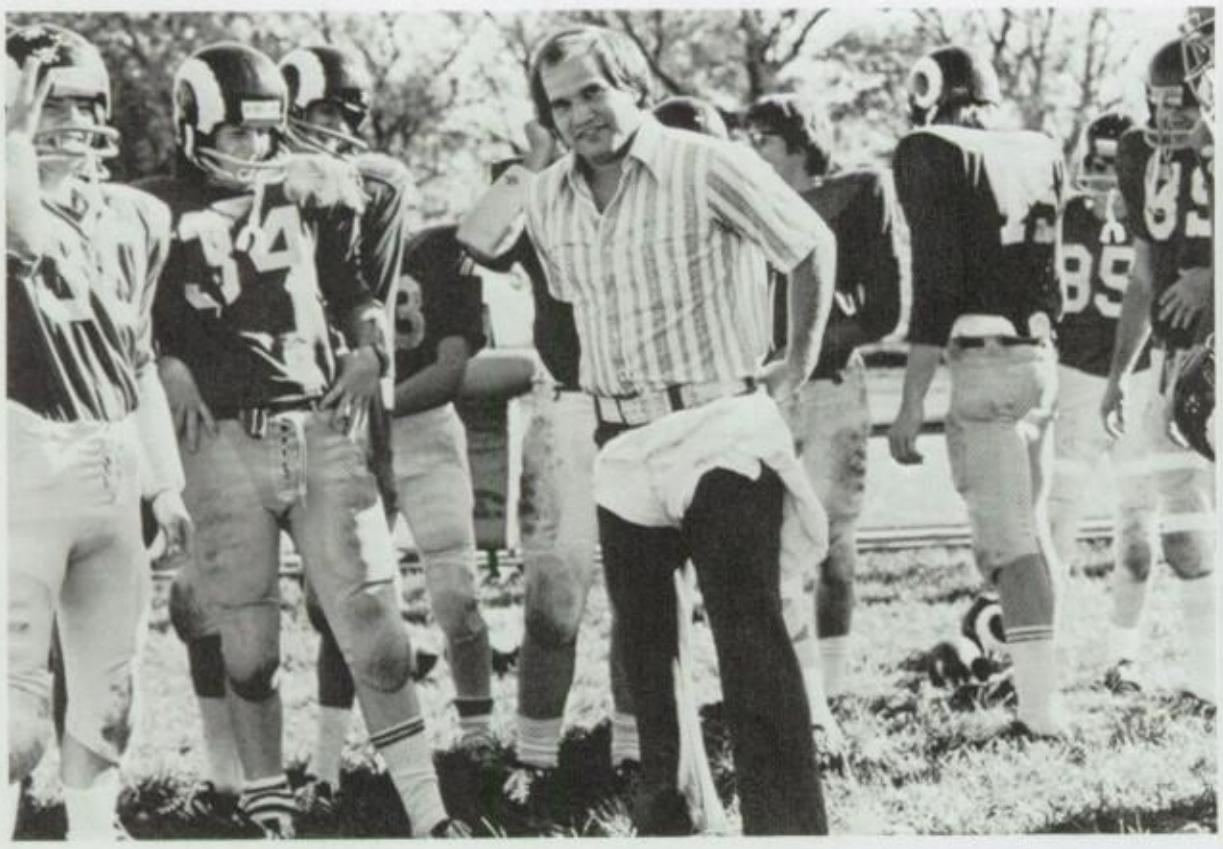
Are All Around



In August, the important job of student scheduling was rechecked. Students could change their classes within the first two weeks of school. Here Mr. Schmidt and Mr. Limburg examine several students' classloads.

School Days '73-'74



The team laughed as Mr. Henderson practiced his new task.

Rod W. showed off his great physique.

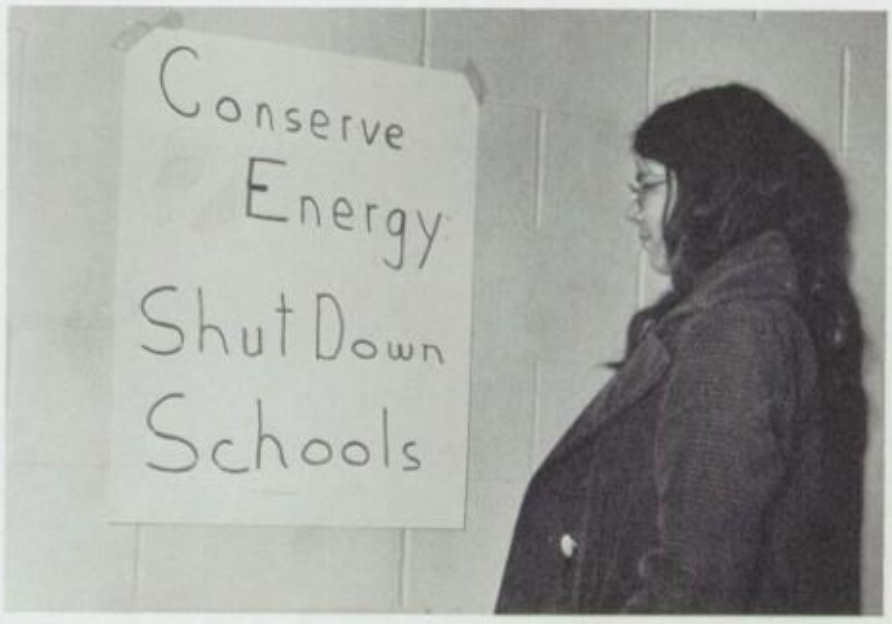
(Right) What was this set-up?

Due to late arrival, first-period study hall some days consisted of J. Garnett and K. Toyne.

What was in your pop can, B. Harris?

You boys, D. Clark, B. Hanson, G. Hemping, T. Cudahy, seemed pretty serious. What were you experimenting with THIS time?

Was it a rough day for you, J. Kinsman?



To dream the impossible dream; right, I. Luft?

Promenade

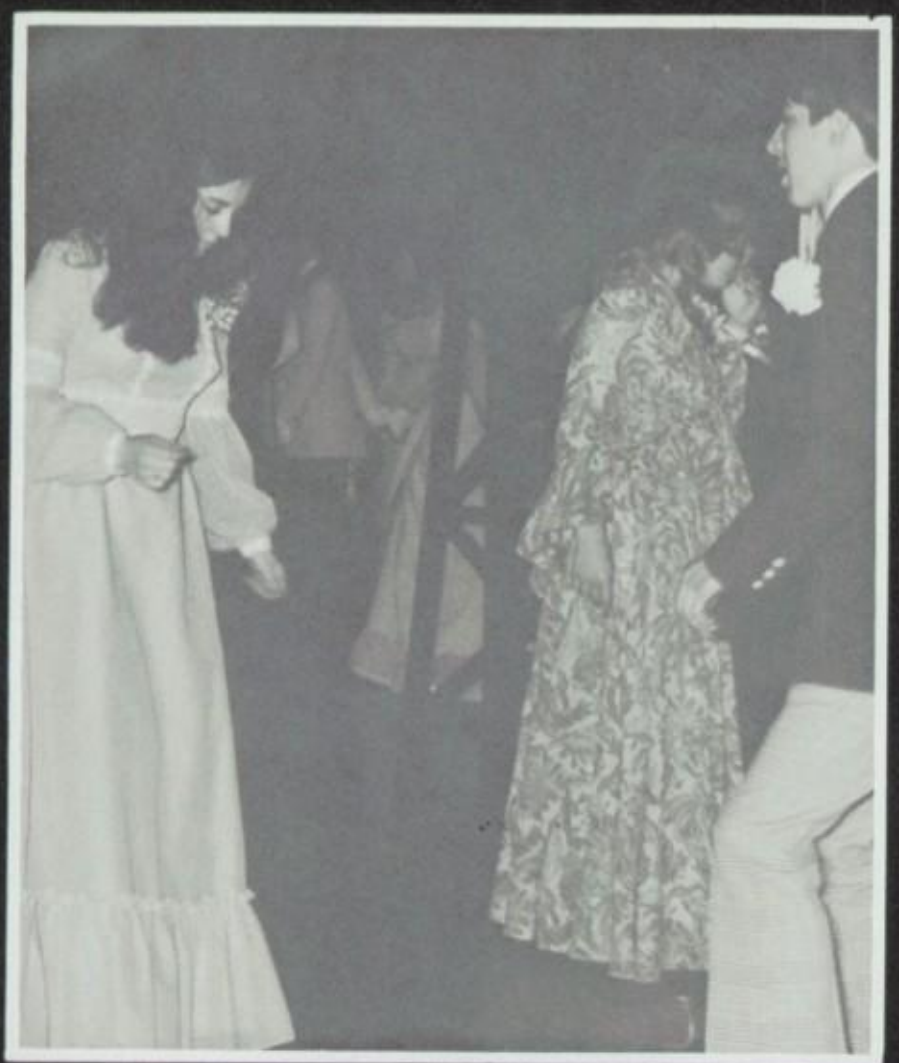
Brian B., Randy M., and Gordon T. diligently helped Michael W. with the streamers.

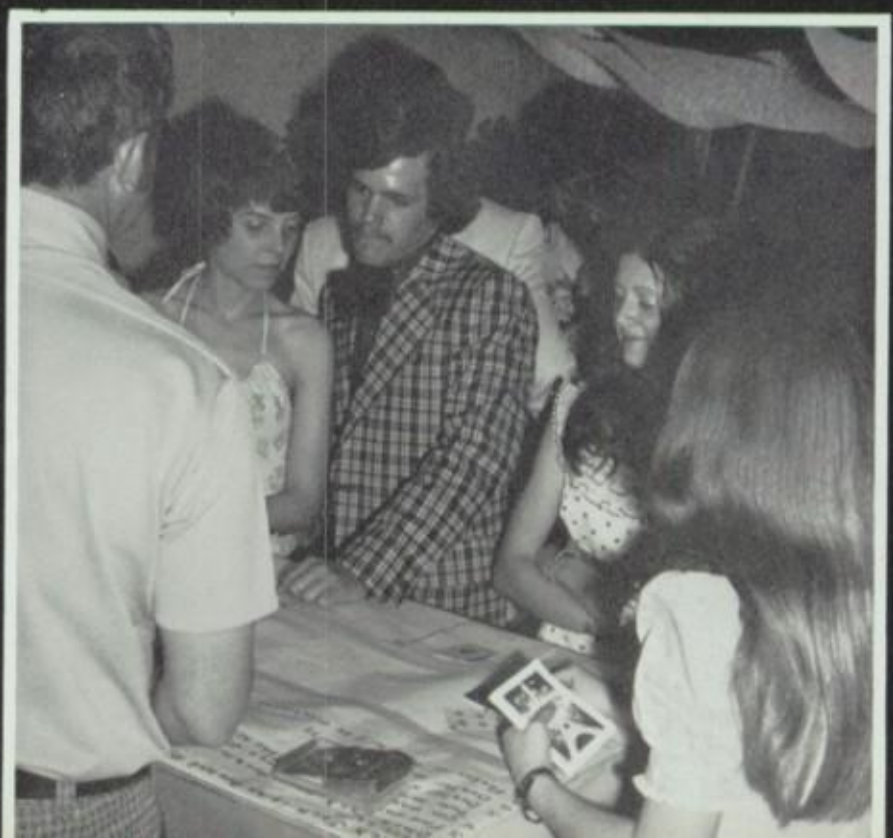
What were you doing back there, Teresa C.?

Cathy P., Irene A., Sherri L., and Julie S. did their best to get all the napkins stuffed in time for the big night.

Did you get tired of twisting all that crepe paper, Mary C.?

A Paris





Promenade à Paris began with a banquet prepared by the junior mothers and the cooks. After the banquet, the juniors and their honored guests assembled in the theatre for the program. Dancing and game room events followed. Many prizes were given away during the intermissions. So even with the rain, the evening turned out to be a great success.

This year the five boys who participated in cross country ran in four meets. To get in shape they ran, played volleyball and badminton.

Retrieving foul balls, keeping score, picking up bats, selling tickets and eating popcorn kept the Diamond Darlings busy. This was the first year for bat girls and they seemed to have been a big success.

"Being the only two people on the team makes us work harder," said the Shriver sisters. They went to Boone and Ames for practice but hope that in the future JCHS will have a swimming pool and more swim team members.

Show Their Graces

Hey, Barb Young--what were you doing to Kara Shriver?

Although they were plagued with shin splints, pulled muscles, sore feet, a chipped elbow, a broken leg and numerous other injuries, the gymnasts had a successful year. After competing at several meets, they placed at districts, earning a chance to go to the Regional meet held in Des Moines.

To end their season the Jaggs modified "The Wizard of Oz" to fit their needs and put on an enjoyable program for the community. Each team member performed a routine in her special area.

Went a Long Way

Paula Lane warmed up before throwing the softball in competition.

The girls had a successful track season this year despite the usual problems with who would run what and a few injuries.

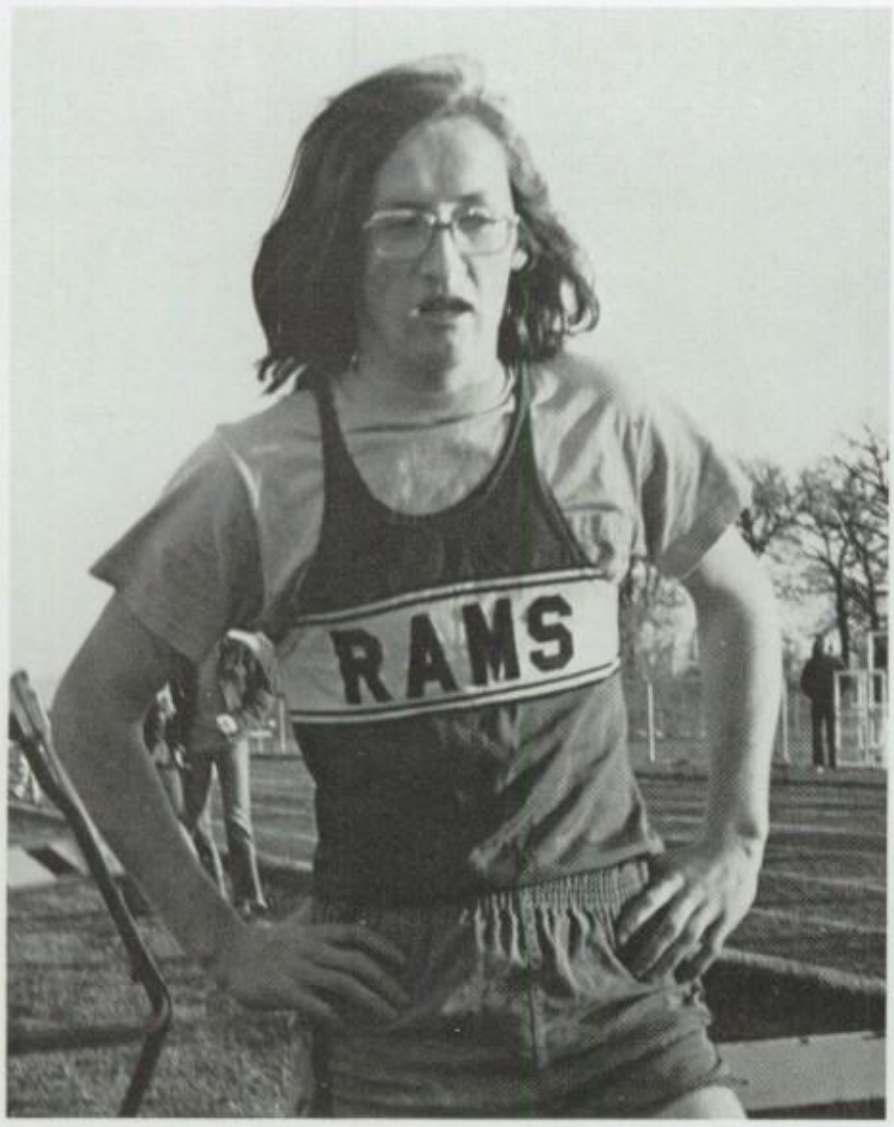
The team ended the year by sending six girls to State: Cindy Clark, Lori Lawson, Debbie Davis, Kathy Schmidt, Kris Hagedorn, and Sandy Clark.

Diana Gross was one of the few field events participants.

The coaches worked directly with the girls sometimes. Joan Kinsman critically watched the start of a race between Debbie Davis and Coach Wallace.

Coach Benitz watched while Sandy Clark and Terry Benson practiced their hand-offs.

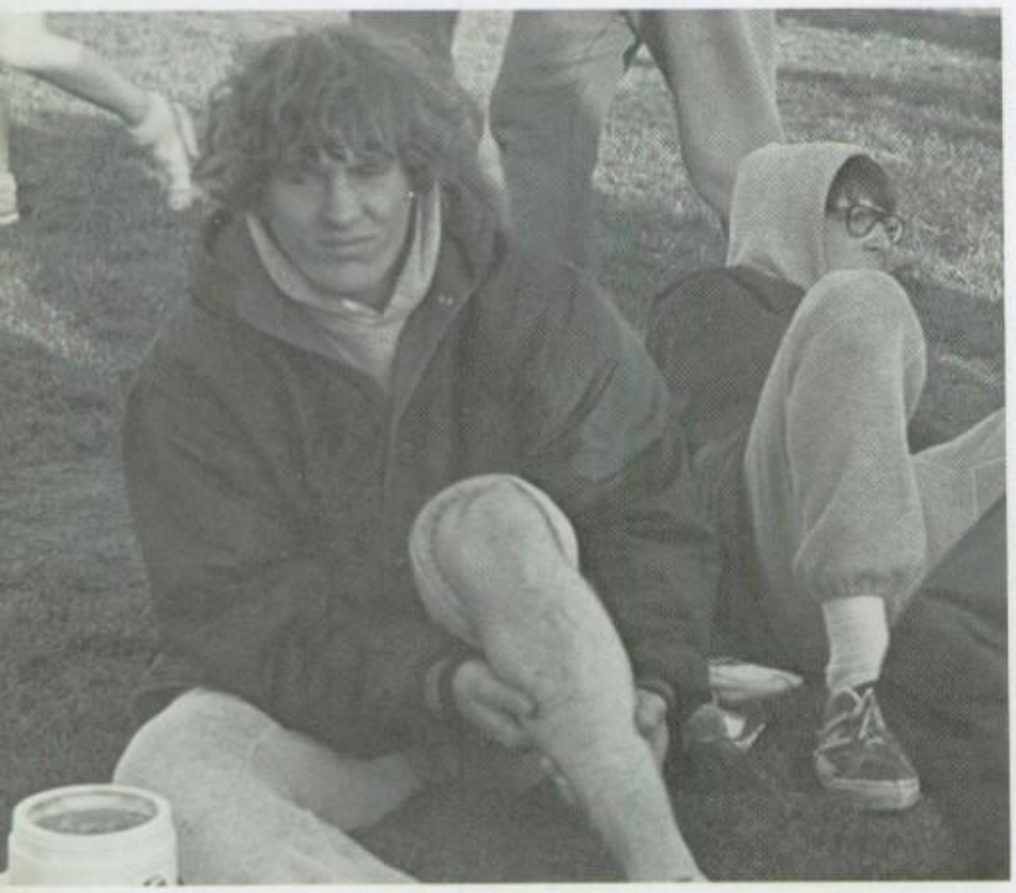
Keep On Trackin' . . .



R. Russell recuperated from his specialty--the 880-yard run.

Did J. Sullivan help you find what you were looking for, E. Walker?

Cramergesic surely worked wonders! Didn't it, L. Larson and D. Clark?



M. Rasmussen liked sunny track meets. Maybe they helped him throw the shot and discus farther.

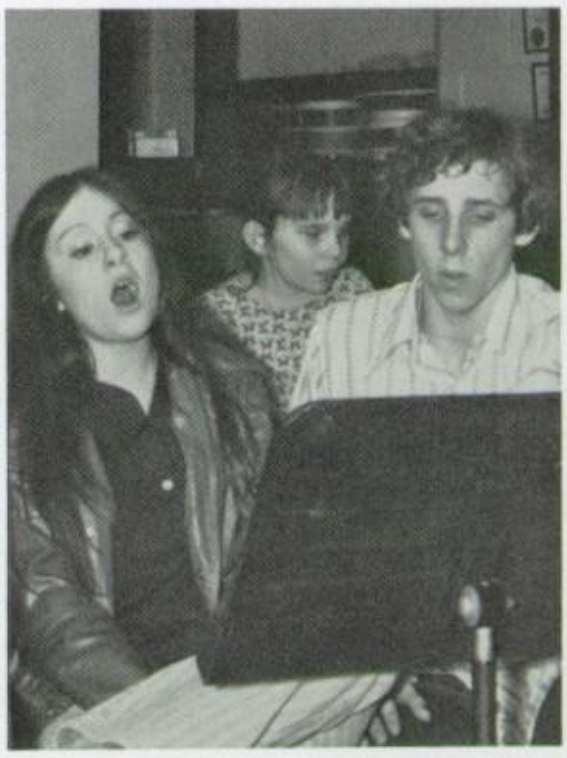
The Swing Choir sang many various types of songs, such as "Bless the Beast and the Children," and "I Wish I Were a Rich Man."

With a "1" and a "2" and a "3", Mr. Becker started the choir rolling.



Singing with a song in your heart made the day go better, didn't it, Mike G.?

Don't Stop Singing

Long hours of practice could tire anyone. Wouldn't you agree Sheila M. and Judy K.?

Deep concentration resulted in true perfection.

Get it on Joan K., Yvon H., and Roger T.

You're Going to Be a Star

Dick Benson and Julie Harris were selected for the All-State chorus.

Receiving I's at Small Group Contest were Front Row: Y. Hamilton, vocal; Gloria Edwards, vocal. Back Row: S. McGregor, vocal; M. Bordenaro, vocal and piano; S. Graven, vocal and piano; and Angela Balding, vocal.

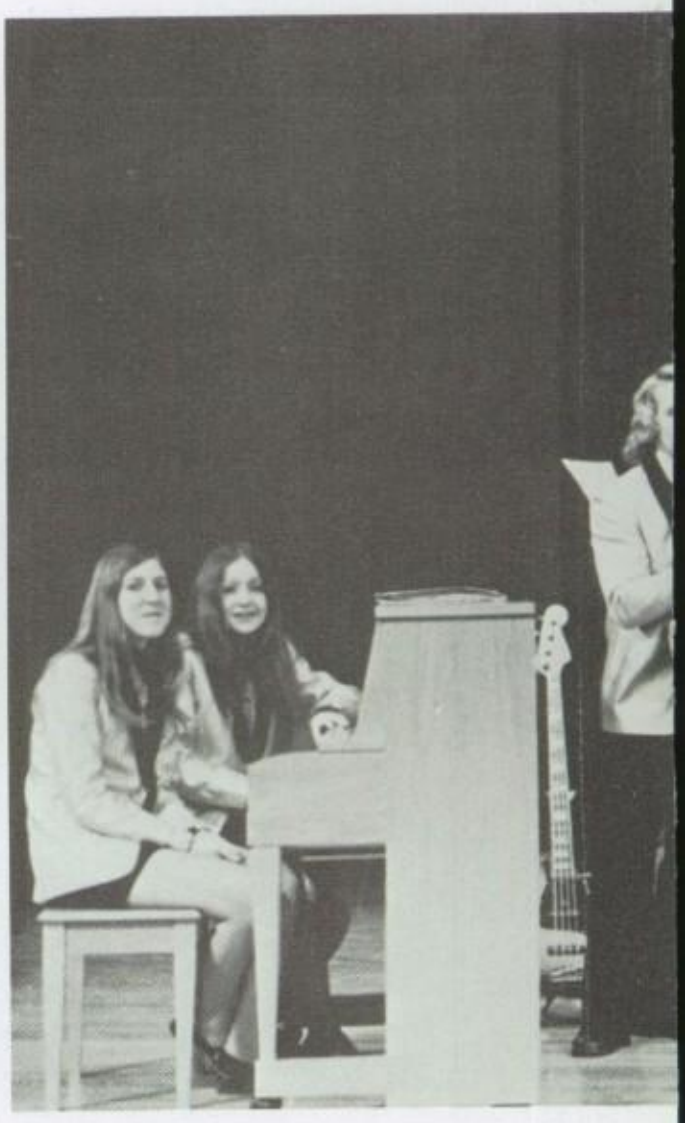
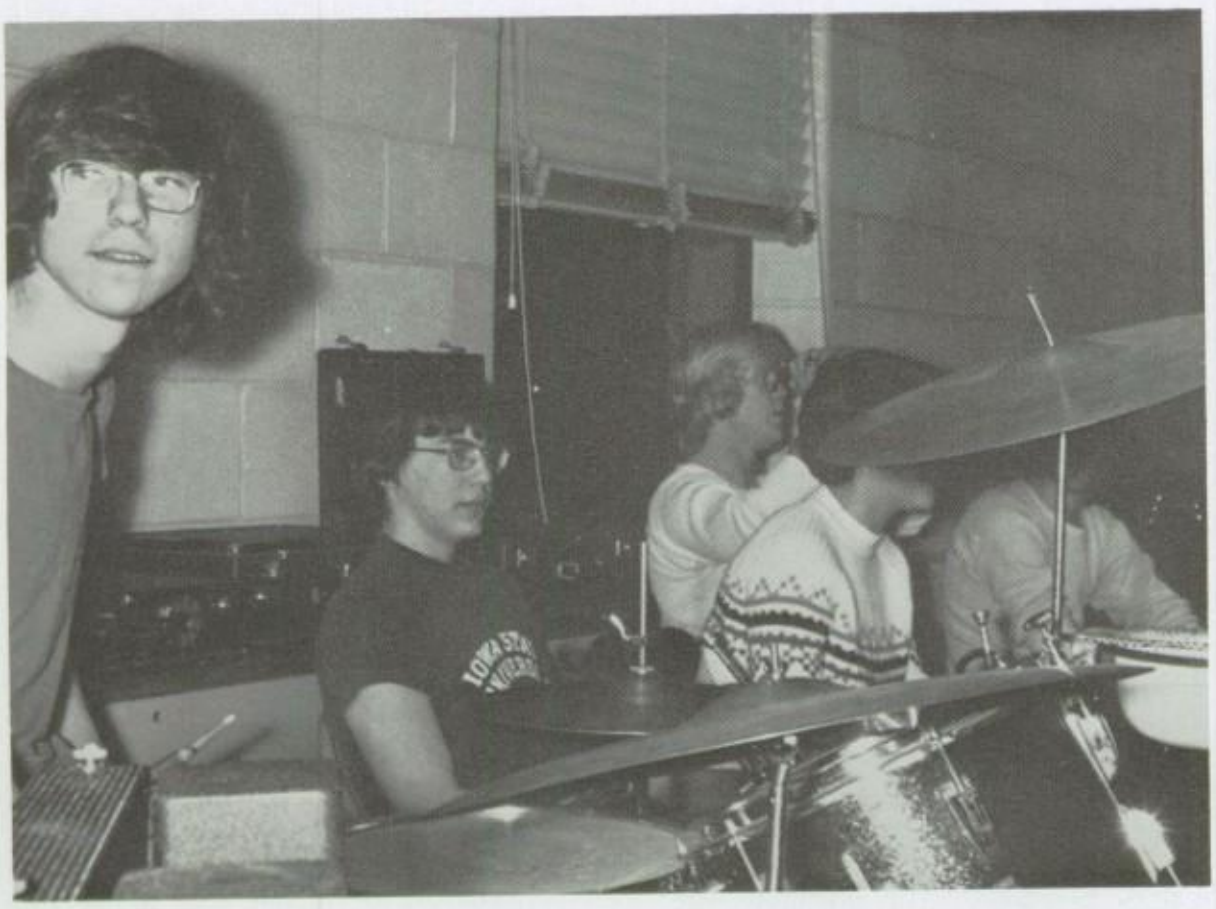
Music is Playing



Was your head "goin' 'round in circles," Lori Dunivan?



The stage band usually took a five to ten-minute break during night practice.

Director Jack Oatts: "This year's stage band developed more from the beginning of the year than any band I've had. The kids were great to work with."

Inside My Head

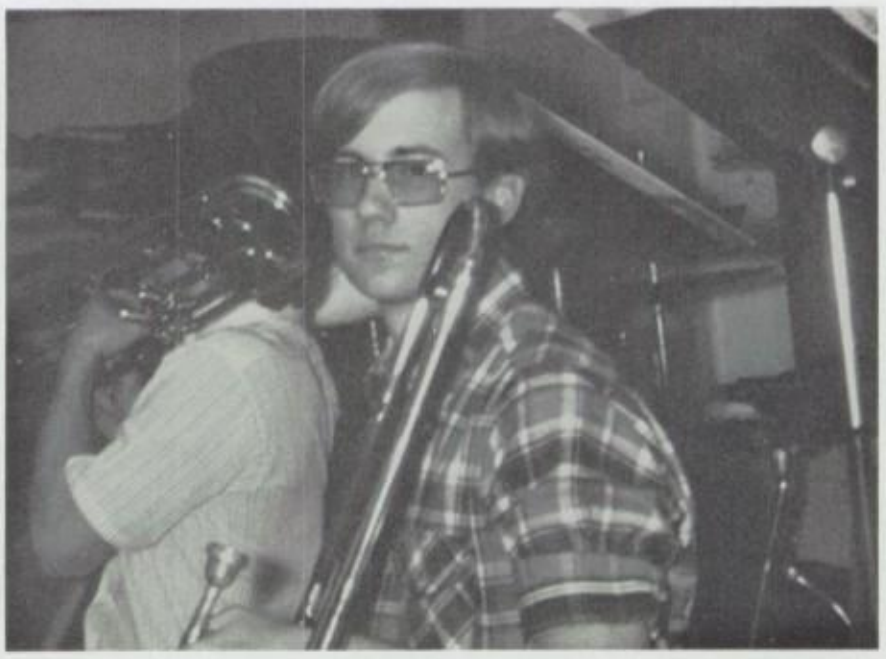
Barb Telleen (foreground) and Mark Rasmussen concentrated on making the most of the music.



Were you looking back on the year's accomplishments, Bob Hanson? If so, you had a lot to think about--performing for the ten year reunion, winning firsts at Tri-State and Great Plains jazz festivals, performing with Bill Chase, and taping TV shows.

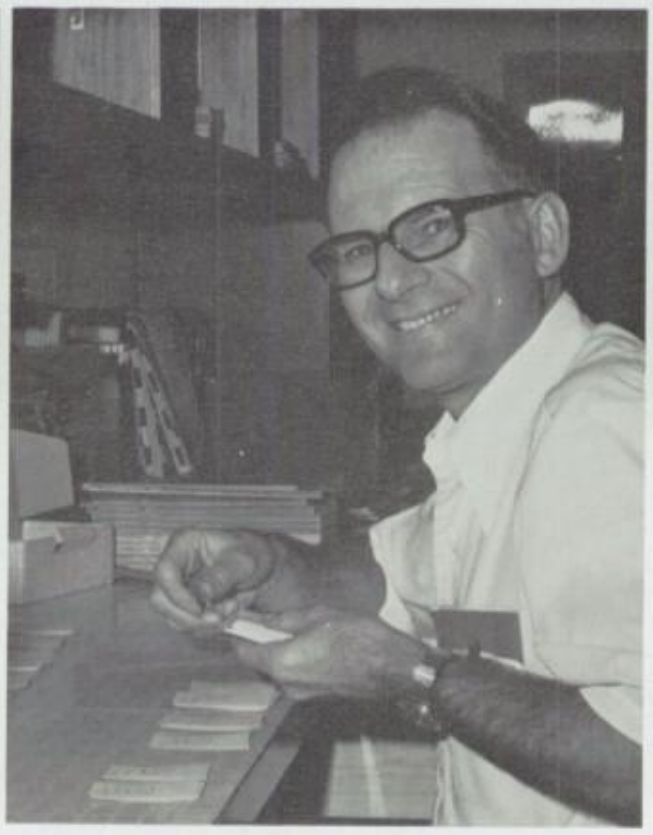
One — Once Again

Besides performing with the stage band, Bill Chase highlighted an afternoon clinic and presented a concert with his group.

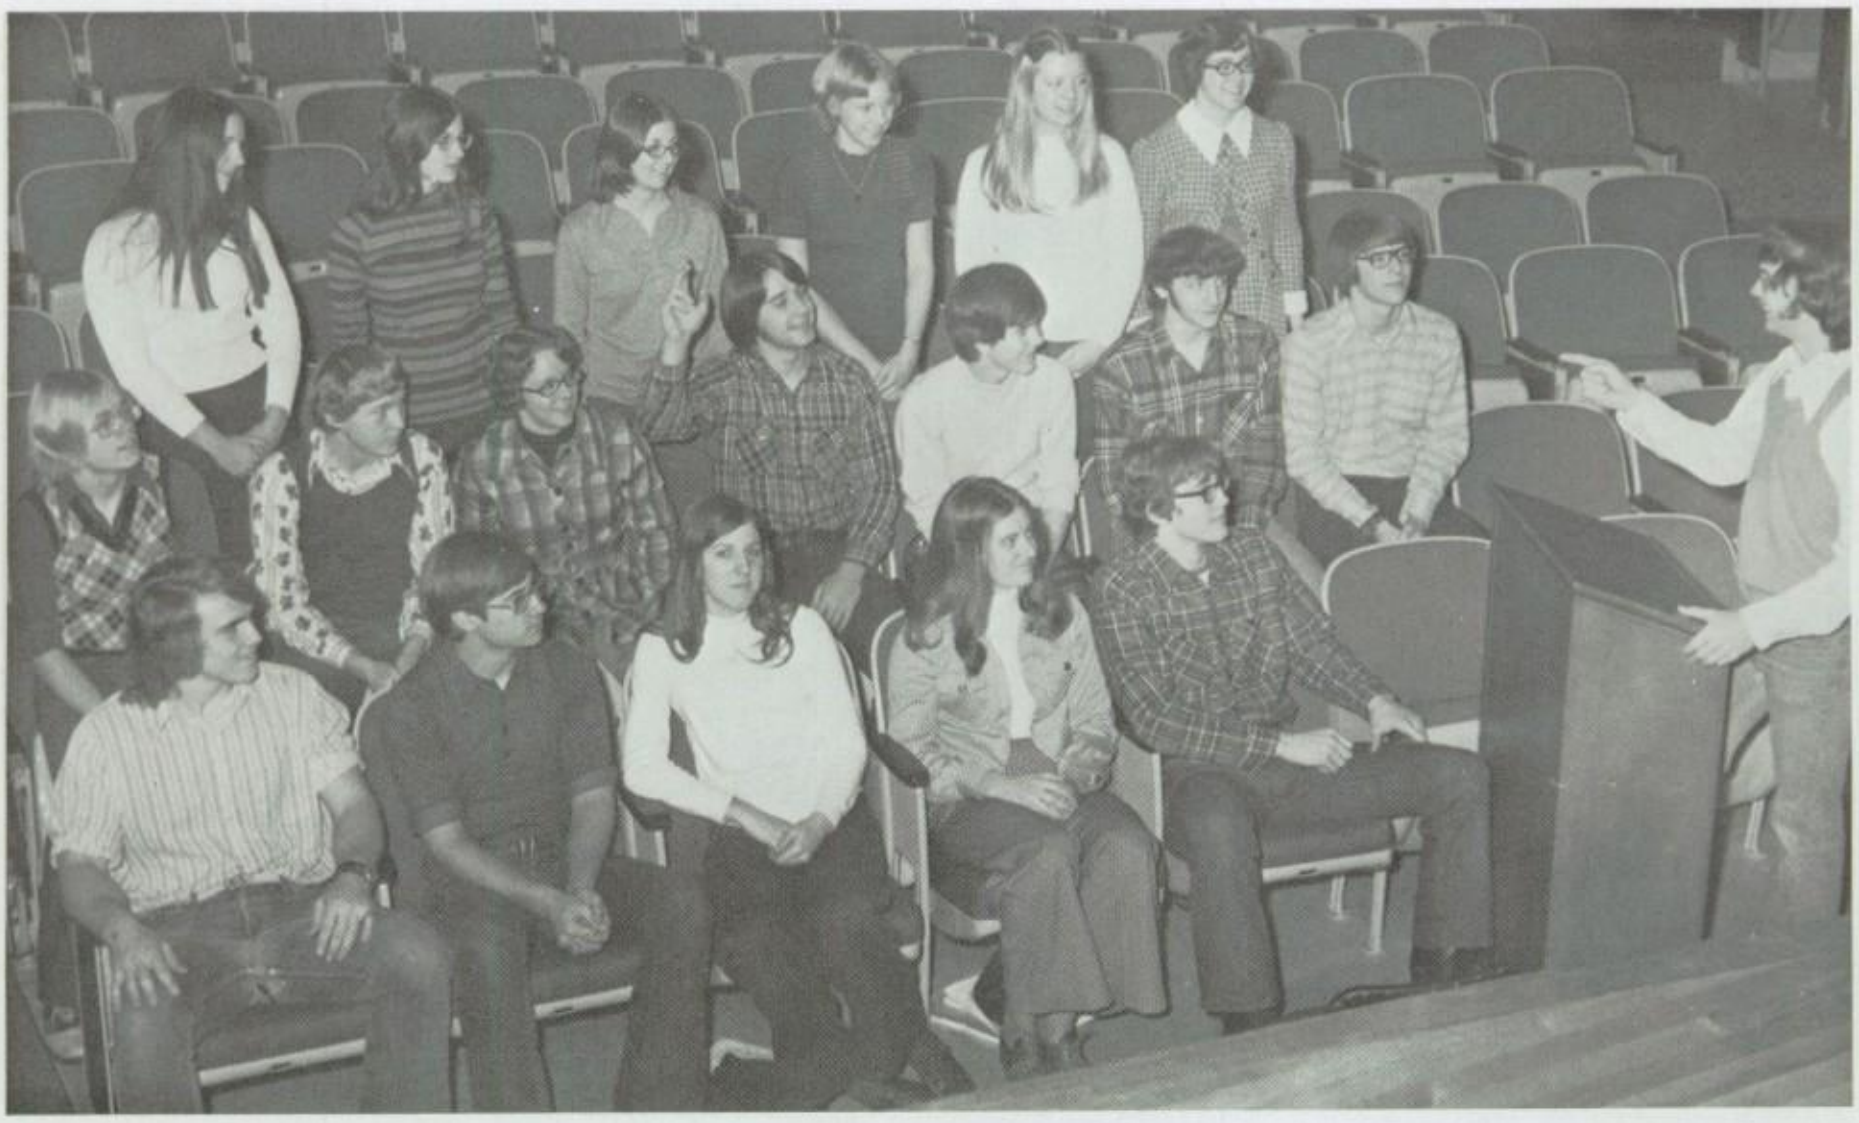
Julie Harris was the featured vocalist. She sang "Something."

Jefferson's stage band did not compete during the day, but played after the top band was chosen.

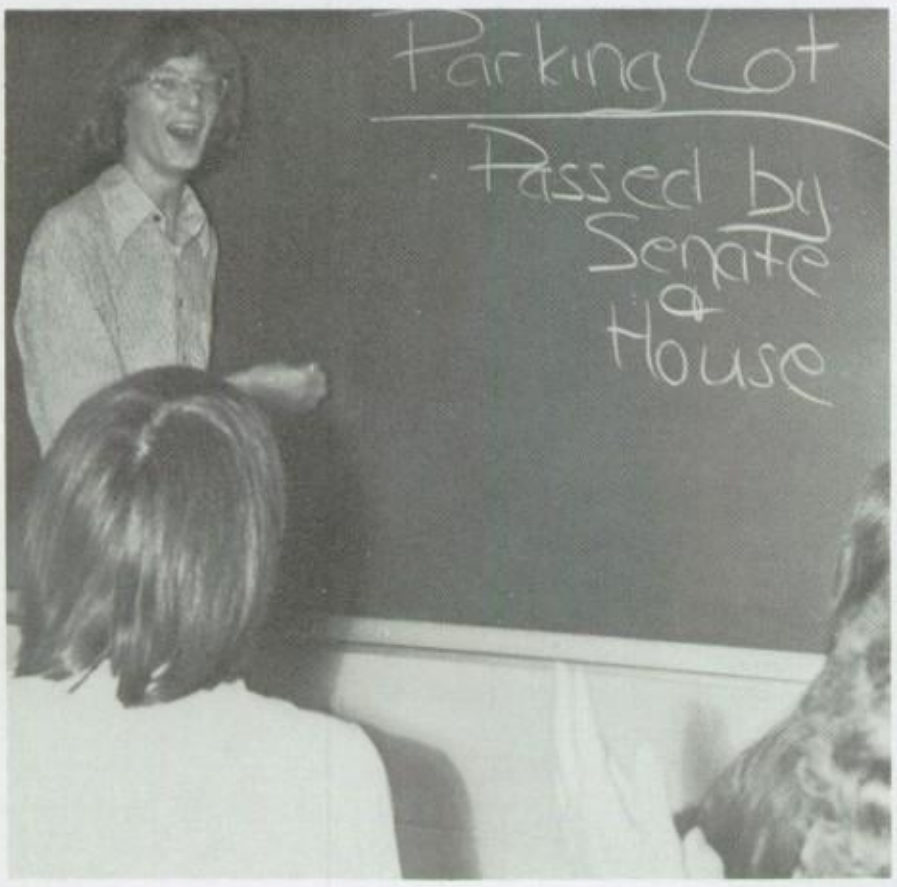
Organizations



Student Spokesmen



Front Row: R. Rohovit, B. Hanson, D. Squires, B. Ferris, M. Rasmussen, E. Whitver. Second Row: S. Strawn, C. Kretzinger, R. Shriver, J. Lynch, J. Brandt, J. Orris, D. Clark. Back Row: N. Sorenson, B. Wahl, G. Canavan, L. Lindhart, S. Brown, D. Shriver.



The Student Council's group effort pushed for a bond issue to pave the parking lot.

They reviewed the plans for the new shop addition.

Speech Contestants

STATE COMPETITORS WERE: K. Bagley, S. Noland, B. Fountain, G. Coon, D. Wright.

DISTRICT COMPETITORS WERE: S. Graven, G. Coon, D. Wright, T. Miner, B. Fountain, M. Sullivan, K. Bagley. Seated Below: S. Noland.

Eight competitors participated in the 1974 district speech contest at Woodward. Gina Coon and Debbie Wright presented humorous declamations. Teresa Miner, Barb Fountain, Kathy Bagley and Sharon Noland entered interpretive prose. Mary Sullivan was an interpretive poetry competitor. Sherri Nell Graven presented a dramatic reading.

Those receiving a I at district advanced to the state contest at Valley High in Des Moines. Those who received I's were Kathy Bagley, Barb Fountain and Gina Coon. Debbie Wright and Sharon Noland brought home II's.
